

International disputes

Forensic and
Investigation Services

Frauds and disputes are not constrained by national boundaries. Mazars is a truly global partnership and has experts around the world that share common standards and procedures in investigations and expert witness assignments.

Our expertise

Mazars is an international firm with a European heart and local roots. With our global reach, we have an appropriate understanding of local regulations and legislation around the world. We are an integrated organisation in 50 countries with over 10,500 professionals. We also have co-operative agreements in an additional 13 countries and are a member of the Praxity alliance which brings together 23,000 professionals in 65 countries. We are an active member of the Praxity Forensic and Valuation Services group which is particularly strong in the US.

Our forensic approach

Mazars undertakes investigation and dispute resolution assignments throughout the world led by dedicated Forensic and Investigation Services teams in the following countries:

- UK
- France
- Germany
- Netherlands
- Ireland
- Italy
- Belgium
- Poland
- Russia
- India
- Malaysia
- China
- Mexico
- South Africa

We have an internationally coordinated Forensic and Investigation Services team which meets regularly to consider key technical issues and share best practise. We have a proven track record of working effectively together as an integrated team to assist our clients to resolve cross-border disputes.

How we can help

We are able to combine the experience of our internationally coordinated Forensic and Investigation Services team with their local knowledge and utilise the expertise of our industry specialists across our global practice to provide authoritative and impartial advice on international disputes.

Nigel Grummitt – Partner, London Forensic and Investigation Services

Nigel heads up Mazars' Forensic and Investigation Services in the UK and is chairman of the group coordinating the provision of these services within Mazars worldwide. He is also a founding member of the Praxity Forensic and Valuation Services group.

E: nigel.grummitt@mazars.co.uk

T: +44(0)20 7063 4101 M: +44(0)7887 557415